LOUISIANA.

The Commission Still Working.

NEW ORLEANS, April 9.—The Commission sat three hours this morning with closed doors. At one o'clock it received a delegation of gentlemen headed by Mr. Black, President of the Cotton Exchange, representing bankers and merchants and other business men. The Commission said to them they had sought Louisiana but could not find it. They found two Governors, two Supreme Courts and an alleged dual government in all the departments, but in fact by the acknowledgment of all parties there is only one legislature, though it meets in two halls. That legislature meets in one body, and it will be the State of Louisiana, and, while it is in session, the only power in the State that can secure the intervention of the army. If self-government is desired and the withdrawal of the army, it can probably be secured in a day, should public opinion of the State compel its legislature to meet as one body. There are 33 of the 36 Senators, and 104 of 120 Representatives whose election is not disputed by either party, and the commission urged that when they assembled as such, the commission could have nothing whatever to say about it. The discussion continued three hours. The delegation was not inclined to accept the suggestion, maintaining that Nicholls must be defended as Governor to the full extent. A delegation from the Union Club Republican Association was received and heard, and a committee from Packard's legislature presented statistics, records and briefs. The commission was in continuous session nearly nine hours. The members spent the evening in individual conversation.

To-morrow the officers of the city government will call and also a delegation of leading colored men, including professional men, planters and citizens of wealth and business standing.

Referring to an interview between the commission and the judges of the Nicholls Supreme Court, the Times says it learns from the very best authority, that the visit of these judges was made at the request of the commission, and the judges did not, nor would they discuss or argue before the commission the question of the status or legality of their court. Various questions were propounded, and in answer thereto the commission learned that the Supreme Court had, since the 9th of January, passed and rendered decisions in over 200 cases; that their mandates and orders had been implicitly observed in every instance.

Packard Preparing for the Worst.

CHICAGO, April 9.—The Journal's New Orleans special says: Gov. Packard, in anticipation that the President will withdraw the troops from the State house, and in order that he may not be caught at a disadvantage, has sworn in a hundred picked white men and members of the National Guard of Louisiana, who will be stationed inside and about the State house. Packard is confident he can retain control of the building. The commission has made little progress, and some of the members are becoming discouraged by the outlook, but will not yet suspend their efforts to consolidate the legislatures.

WASHINGTON CITY.

The Next House.

NEW YORK, April 9.—The World's Washington special says the new House consists of 147 Democrats, 137 Republicans and 9 contested seats.

He Still Lingers.

CHICAGO, April 7.—The Inter Ocean's special from Washington, says the Democrats of Jere Haralson's district having read his document setting forth the facts of the election in his district in Mississippi, decline to extend the policy of peace and reconciliation to him and threaten to bull doze him if he comes home. Newspapers and anonymous letters have communicated to him vague hints of hanging, shooting, etc. This is peculiarly unfortunate now when the President is extending the olive branch by recognizing Democratic governors. Jere received the following reply to a telegram addressed to his former master: "People here are very much exasperated about your conduct. I doubt if it is safe to return." He still lingers.

Ample Room for Reform.

The Tribune's Washington special considers that there is ample ground and room for reform in the custom house investigations at New York. The receipts from customs in 1872 were $148,000,000; in 1874 they had fallen off to $100,000,000, yet the expenditures of the latter year had been increased by $30,000 over those of 1872. George Bliss, late district attorney, has a list of clerks in the collector's office and naval office, all of whom have been accused of having accepted considerable sums of money from importers and brokers for what are called extra service, but which payments, in point of fact, are little better than bribes. This list the attorney brought to the attention of the collector, but it is not known to have received any consideration. No accusations are made against Arthur's personal integrity, and no one suspects he is in collusion with any of the fraudulent transactions which are believed to have taken place.

The Centennial Lawsuit.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—The U. S. Supreme Court to-day reversed the decision of the lower court in the Centennial appropriation case and decided that $1,500,000 appropriated by Congress shall be returned to the government before any dividends are paid to the stockholders.

The Treasurer will open an account with these notes at once, and they will be held only for the purpose of redeeming silver as required by a provision in the joint resolutions.

Too Many Indians.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—General Sherman sent the following reply to a telegram from Lieut. Sheridan:

Your dispatch announcing the coming of Indians is received and fulfills your predictions. Now will there not be too many at Red Cloud and Spotted Tail agencies to be moved right away to the neighborhood of Fort Randall, where one dollar will go further towards feeding them than three or four dollars will at the agencies? Besides these two agencies are in Nebraska and must be moved sooner or later. W. T. SHERMAN.

Treasury Regulations.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—The following circular will be issued to-morrow by the National Bank redemption agency, under the provisions of the Treasury department. Circular number 43 of March 23, 1877, relative to the manner in which subsidiary silver coin may be obtained in exchange for currency. The Treasurer of the United States and redemption agent will cause to be forwarded from some mint of the United States, the expense of transportation to be borne by the mint, to any point in the United States reached through established express lines or continuous railway or steamboat connection, subsidiary silver coin in return for National Bank notes, forwarded to him for redemption in sums of a thousand dollars or any multiple thereof not exceeding ten thousand dollars.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

War Near at Hand.

LONDON, April 9.—The French and Russian representatives have particularly urged upon the Porte to accept the protocol and send an envoy to St. Petersburg, pointing out that it is not a question of preliminary disarmament, but of coming to an understanding with Russia. The Pall Mall Gazette says Turkey yields to all or nearly all that Russia demanded. There will be war before many days.

Turkish Incredulity.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 9.—Safvet Pasha personally explained to foreign representatives Turkey's objections to the protocol and the accompanying declaration, and declared that the Bulgarian massacres were the result of the intrigues of foreign agitators, and said the promises of reform were being carried out, and the Porte would shortly send the powers a circular dispatch to the foregoing effect. Foreign representatives are endeavoring to dissuade Safvet Pasha from this course, and to induce the Porte to send a special envoy to St. Petersburg.

Turkish War Movements.

The Porte's Reply to Russia.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 9.—The Agence Russe publishes the following: The Turkish reply will be evasive. The Porte maintains complete independence in all its domestic affairs. It professes a willingness to send immediately an extraordinary envoy to St. Petersburg, but in doing so expresses no intention of previously concluding peace with Montenegro. It attaches, in fact, to peace with Montenegro a condition which render it obvious that the Porte wishes to gain time and avoid any decision whatever, thus leaving to Russia the initiatory of a rupture.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 9.—At the Council of Ministers to-day no resolution was arrived at regarding the question of peace with Montenegro or sending the envoy to St. Petersburg.

The War Cloud Grows.

LONDON, April 9.—The Standard's dispatch from Constantinople reports that the belief in war increases. There seems to be no doubt that the protocol and Montenegrin ultimatum will be politely refused.

There are a great many ponies belonging to the Indians of the Yakima reservation now running on the range between Umatilla and Willow creek, along the Columbia, and the residents of that section complain bitterly of the fact. Miss Lieuallen's knee was fractured. Mr. Price's infant child, three months old, had a leg broken, and three other children more or less bruised and injured. One of the horses, valued at $150, ran against a telegraph pole, killing himself instantly.

WHAT COMES WITH SPRING.—The Corinne Reporter tells in this paragraph of one of the things that comes with spring:

Spring is fairly upon us, and now is the proper time to go down cellar and bring up the box containing your lily, gladiola and tulip bulbs, which you so carefully packed in sand last fall. Your wife will weep softly when you pick out one after another of them as dry and dead as an Egyptian mummy's ear, but you must not give way to your feelings when she attributes the misfortune to you, but tenderly yet firmly turn her attention to the beneficial results which will be realized from the Scientific Bug Committee to the Pacific coast.

EASTERN OREGON.

From the Baker Democrat we take the following descriptive account of the eastern portion of the State:

The counties of Wasco, Umatilla, Union, Grant, Baker and Lake are those which constitute Eastern Oregon, in 1852 was embraced within the limits of Wasco and Jackson counties. As the population east of the Cascade mountains began to extend the necessity for other county organizations caused the formation of Umatilla county, with the county seat at Umatilla Landing, where it remained some years, when the population of that county, for convenience to the greatest number, moved it to Pendleton where it remains. Then Union and Grant were formed; the county seat of Union is now at the town of Union, and that of Grant is at Canyon City. Then Baker county was organized with its county seat at Auburn, where it remained for a few years and was then removed to Baker City, where it still remains. Two years ago Lake county was organized from that portion of Jackson east of the Cascade Mountains and, we believe, a portion of Wasco. These counties now contain about one fifth of the population of the State, and more than one half of the territory comprised within its boundary. In this portion of the State are to be found the most of the mineral deposits, such as gold, silver, lead, iron and other baser metals. Here is also to be found the best stock range and grazing lands, with as good agricultural lands as the world can produce. Crops here, if put in right and properly attended to, never fail, and if we should tell of the yield per acre we might be accused of having been guilty of exaggeration. In the way of grain, wheat oats and barley are the principal crops that now attract the attention of our farmers; of vegetables we can raise any and everything here that can be raised in the Eastern, Middle or Western States, and as much on one acre of ground as they can there on from two to five. Almost everything here, in the grain or vegetable line, is sold by weight—you hardly ever see a half bushel measure, and we know that there are many of our young people who would not know what they were if they should happen to see one.

Grain ranges in price from one to three cents per pound, according to the demand and scarcity of the article, but the general price is from one to one and a half cents per pound. Potatoes sell at from three fourths to one and a half cents per pound; onions from one to five cents; cabbage at from one to three cents; turnips at from one fourth to one and a half cents, and other vegetables in proportion; butter at from twenty-five to sixty cents per pound, the average being about thirty-five or forty cents; eggs from twenty to sixty cents, averaging about thirty or thirty-five cents per dozen; beef on foot from three to six cents per pound, and in market at from four to twelve cents; pork on foot five to eight cents per pound, dressed at from eight to fifteen cents; bacon at from fifteen to twenty-five cents. Farm hands receive from thirty to fifty dollars per month wages; mechanics from three to five dollars per day, and miners the same; male teachers in the public schools receive from forty to seventy dollars per month, and females from thirty to fifty dollars per month; in our higher schools males receive from seventy-five to one hundred and thirty dollars per month, and females from fifty to one hundred dollars.

Our taxes seem high—from three to four mills on the dollar—but when it is taken into consideration that, as a general rule, property is not valued at more than one half its real value, and three hundred dollars exemption allowed and all indebtedness within the State taken off, it is not high. If property was given in at its actual value our taxes would not be half as high as they are, and no man would pay any more than he now does, and we think not so much. As we have said before, this is an easy country to make a living in, and if our people would work as hard and as faithful as they do in the States east of the Rocky mountains, they would all soon become wealthy, or at least those who would become so any other place, but it is easy to make a living here and our people take it easy, and look forward to the time when their stock and their lands will make them the solid men of the country.

POLITICAL PARAGRAPHS.

Says the Salem Mercury: Senator Grover informs us that the Senate committee appointed to investigate the charges preferred against him by Mitchell, will probably not come to this State until September next, or at least not until after the called session of Congress in June is ended.

The Washington Republican, which formerly flaunted the bloody shirt, and was the special organ of the worst species of carpetbaggery, has become one of the most conservative papers in the country—gently chides the administration for hesitating to leave Chamberlain and Packard to their fate.

The Salem Mercury seeks retaliation in paragraphs like this: It is rumored there were three sawbuck signatures on the anti-Grover petition presented to the Senate. Under the new civil service rules this will create three vacancies in the ring of Federal officers in this State. Who speaks first that can write his name?

Senator Bogy, of Missouri, has written a letter expressing deep regret that the Democrats in the House did not stop the count of the electoral vote, because if the House had refused to further the count, Mr. Hayes would not have gone in under the forms of the law, even if the Senate had taken steps to bring about his inauguration.

Some days ago the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia by the decision of three Justices against two, upheld the plea of justification set up by John G. Thompson, Sergeant-at-Arms, in the suit against him for $10,000 damages by Hallett Kilbourn. Thompson claimed that he was acting under the orders of the House and could not be held personally responsible. Chief Justice Carter dissented.

Whatever may become of the Louisiana Governorship the State is likely to have at least one Democratic Senator. Senator Morton intimates that he will favor the claim of J. B. Eustis to a seat in the Senate, and that Senator Edmunds and McMillan, who are also members of the committee on elections, hold the same view. Eustis was elected two years ago for the short term, but the committee on elections reported against him on the ground that the vacancy had been filled by the election of Pinchback. Subsequently the Senate decided that Pinchback was not elected.

PROPERTY OF HUSBANDS AND WIVES.—The rights of husbands and wives to the property which they respectively bring into the family are defined by a bill which has just passed the Legislature of Connecticut. The bill provides that husband and wife shall not acquire by marriage any right to each other's property; that the husband shall be liable for all debts incurred for the joint maintenance of husband, wife and children; that the separate earnings of the wife shall be her own property; that the wife may make contracts or sell her real or personal property; that all her property shall be liable for debts; that the husband shall be liable for none of her debts contracted before marriage, nor for those contracted after marriage, except for articles for the support of the family or for the joint benefit of both; and that the husband and wife, respectively, upon the death of the other, shall each inherit during the remainder of life the use of one third of the other's property.

FUNNY FELLOWS.—Many of the newspapers are punning at the expense of Thompson, of the Navy Department. The Burlington Hawkeye has this:

The new Secretary of the Navy having been informed that there were buoys belonging to his department in New York harbor, immediately issued an order commanding them to report to their ships without delay. "Discipline is discipline," says the old salt, "if I have to skin every boy in the navy."

And the Louisville Courier Journal lets off this squib:

Now his friends understand why Thompson was out at sunrise every morning for weeks, in February, pulling up and down the Wabash in a perilous dug-out.

THE CIVIL SERVICE.—On this subject the New York Times speaks thus: The great need of the civil service is stability and character, and these can be secured only by reasonable permanency of tenure. Removals on y should be made for good cause, and the existence of such cause should be ascertained and determined by the department under which the officer acts, through its own agencies, not through interested outsiders. Every department possesses, or should possess, the means of knowing whether or not its subordinate officers properly perform their duties. The officers of the proper departments at Washington are much better judges of the efficiency of a postmaster, a marshal or a collector than the Senator or Representative.

CAPITAL NOTES.

The Salem brass band continue in regular practice and promise to become an honor to our city and proficient in their professional character.

Miss Florence Warriner has been chosen assistant teacher in the South Salem school, which place has been made vacant by the resignation of Miss Jones.

Ben. Kelsey, ye middle man of the Salem Minstrels, has been missing since Monday last. It is surmised he has gone to Portland and contemplates matrimony.

C. E. Lum has been elected secretary of Capital Engine Company, No. 1, vice Frank E. Hodgkin, resigned. He will undoubtedly prove an efficient officer.

We note the appearance of Miss Hattie B. Clarke's name as editor of the "Home Circle" department of the Willamette Farmer, also the fact that it is most creditably sustained.

The Odd Fellows' library in this city has become a favorite place of resort for the fraternity, and is kept in excellent order by the courteous librarian, F. G. Schwatka, Esq.

A large and brilliant masquerade party took place last evening at the palatial residence of Thos. McF. Patton, Esq., under the auspices of his daughter, Lillian. The costumes were in many instances nice and unique in detail.

The annual school meeting of the district will take place at Reed's Opera House this evening, to levy a tax for school purposes during the ensuing year. Our citizens are fully awake to the growing importance of the free school system.

W. R. Dunbar, G. W. C. T., on Friday evening last, organized a lodge of Good Templars at Gervais, with 34 charter members, with Samuel Brown as W. C. T.; Mollie Masterson, W. V. T.; S. L. Gaines, W. S., and William Berry, L. D.

Rev. C. V. Anthony's lecture on the "Sandwich Islands," on Friday evening last, for the benefit of the M. E. Church of this city, was a very interesting discourse, although the receipts at the door were much less than the merits of the address and the worthiness of the cause justified.

While backing out of the stable to-day the handsome cab team owned by Hon. J. Olinger, became frightened and starting off overturned the hack, throwing the driver, young Nichols, to the ground, and dragging the vehicle some distance. Finally becoming detached from the vehicle, one of the horses became entangled in the harness and was thrown in such a manner as to break his leg, necessitating killing him on the spot. The loss will prove a severe one to Mr. Olinger, who has owned them but a short time, and the animal was really a valuable one.

CURRENT ITEMS.

A wealthy Copenhagen brewer, J. C. Jacobsen, has given the sum of a million of crowns for the promotion of mathematics.

It is reported that the Great Eastern is to be once more fitted for sea. This time she is intended to convey cattle from America to England.

Score one for Evarts. The Secretary said recently about Ohio office seekers: "I have heard and known a good deal of Ohio and Ohio people, but I have never yet seen the reserve."

A respectable New Yorker gets into the courts for taking a mild revenge on his wife for giving away his clothes to poor relations. He merely cut up her dresses and poured cold water on her naked head.

An educated young man went into Mississippi a few years since. His friends were proud of him, and said he would be heard from in the world before many years. They were right; the young man now beats a gong at a railroad station.

Mr. Thompson of the navy, is the oldest secretary. All speak well of him. He is as inveterate a smoker as Gen. Grant. He has a wife and one or more adult children. Some funny "local" reports that when the position was tendered him, Mrs. Thompson said, "Why, Dick can't swim." This is, of course, a wicked newspaper invention.

Annually the effort is made in the English Parliament to legalize marriages between a widower and his wife's sister, but the conservatives, who have no better objection than that as it never has been it never must be, have always defeated the bill. In all the colonies of Great Britain this marriage is legalized, but the children of such union are not recognized as legitimate in England. The question is now presented to the Imperial Parliament in a new form, Australia petitioning that marriages lawful in the colonies shall be made legitimate anywhere in the Empire.

JUST SO.—The Burlington Hawkeye puts a little matter, which almost everybody has witnessed, in this way:

When you see a young man sitting in a parlor, with the ugliest six-year-old boy that ever frightened himself in the mirror clambering over his knees, erasing his white tie out of knot, mussing his white vest, kicking his shins, feeling in all his pockets for nickles, bombarding him from time to time with various bits of light furniture and bijouterie, calling him names at the top of his fiendish lungs, and yelling incessantly for him to come out in the yard and play, while the unresisting victim smiles all the time like the cover of a comic almanac, you may safely bet, although there isn't a sign of a girl around in a radius of 10,000 miles, you can bet your bottom dollar that howling boy has a sister who is primping in a room not very far away, and that the young man doesn't come there just for the sake of playing with her brother.

THE PROBLEM.

The State Republican Committee of Louisiana has issued an address to the country, in which the case in behalf of Packard is stated and argued with great earnestness; but the conclusion cannot be avoided that the address throws no new light on the difficult subject of Louisiana politics. The authors undertake to state the grounds of the intense and implacable opposition to the Packard government, summing up the case in this paragraph:

The root of the hostility is that bitterness which arises from defeat in arms and loss of property in slaves, which 12 long years has failed to modify in any marked degree. It has taken the form of a determination not to accept in good faith the results of the war; to take advantage of any inclination on the part of the friends of liberty and equality in the North to even temporarily abandon the wards of the nation, and by the free use of the shotgun to "shuffle the negro out of politics," and thus practically repeal the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments to the Constitution of the United States.

Utterances like these plainly reflect the heat of party anger and strife, and could come only from an atmosphere thick with the recriminations of an embittered struggle. Great allowance must be made for the loud and extravagant rhetoric of both parties in such a contest. What the authors of this address so emphatically aver, their opponents as positively deny. The latter declare in the most solemn terms that they will protect the rights of all, and enforce justice with an impartial hand. There can be no doubt that Harper's Weekly speaks the sentiment of a large class of Republicans when it answers in this way the demand that Packard and Chamberlain shall be unconditionally sustained:

Nobody can be justly reproached for saying that a policy which has lost to the Republicans every Southern State, which has not effectually protected the negro, and which has embittered the jealousies of classes and of races, however indispensable it may have been when adopted, is not a wise permanent policy.

Yet it must be owned that the Northern Republican mind is not free altogether from apprehension that injustice may be done to the colored men of the South by hampering them in the exercise of their political rights to an extent that may seriously impair the value of the ballot in their hands. If full assurance were felt that this would not be the case, the last objection to the new line of action would be swept away. What is needed is more confidence and better mutual understanding. Clearly the old course of things cannot continue. There is wisdom, as Bacon says, in knowing the beginnings of things. There is a beginning now. And though the whole result cannot be foreseen, every observer knows that a change is begun.

POINTING WITH PRIDE.

Legislative investigation in New York has recently made a disclosure of some of the mysteries of life insurance management. The facts brought to light are of a nature to give pleasing and satisfactory assurance to those who hold policies in the companies under investigation that the officers thereof are paid salaries corresponding with the high dignity of their station. The policy-holder, therefore, is not disgraced by being connected with the beggarly officers, or by being represented by officials who are underpaid for their arduous labors. He knows that his money goes for a great and useful purpose; he reads with satisfaction how the president of his favorite company gets a salary of fifty thousand dollars a year; the first vice president, fifteen to twenty-five thousand; the second vice president, a highly useful officer, twelve to fifteen thousand; the secretary, twenty thousand; the actuary, fifteen or twenty thousand; and corresponding sums for solicitors, medical examiners, cashiers and the ample train of other officials supporting the machinery of a first-class company. The contributor to the expenses of a first-rate establishment of this kind learns with extreme gratification that the managers are enjoying a high degree of prosperity, and are moreover deeply impressed with the benefits of the life insurance system. He is also pleased beyond expression to find that they are still able to explain to him that this is the very method to make sure provision for his family in the shape of an "investment" for their benefit, and that no man ought to neglect so manifest a duty. Also, that policies will very shortly pay dividends, and that holders will enjoy all the benefits of a purely mutual plan. Some of the companies declined to respond to the inquiry of the legislative committee, being ashamed, no doubt, of the meagerness of the salaries paid to overworked officials; but there were others that took no false pride, but were ready to let the world see how a self-denying life insurance company can work disinterestedly for his fellow men. Truly, there are different ways; but it affords no little satisfaction to think that philanthropy and patriotism conjoined, do not require more than a comparatively small number of our fellow citizens to be high officials in life insurance companies.

THE GREAT OBSTACLE.

It is very unfortunate for those sections of the country wanting railway aid that the great roads now existing, which have been created by the liberality of the government, should be in an attitude toward the country which is defiant and exasperating, which creates suspicion, begets distrust, and leads to a well-grounded fear that the government will lose all it has at stake in the roads. It is this state of facts more than any other, which operates against our claims for government aid. It is an unjust and narrow mode of reasoning, but its force is felt and cannot be entirely turned aside or avoided. The present Pacific railways are in this position toward the government, viz.: Repayment of their subsidy, principal and interest, is postponed till the expiration of thirty years from the time when the roads were completed. During this whole period the government will be obliged to advance the interest. When the time of payment arrives, the road will owe the government the prodigious sum of one hundred and eighty-one million dollars. Of course it will not be paid. The roads will not be worth one-third of the sum. The security held by the government will be of no value whatever, for there is a prior lien on the roads amounting to their full value. Such a state of things means simply that the government will lose the whole of the vast sum named above. Every effort to bring about any kind of adjustment is continually defeated or postponed in Congress. The partisans of the present roads are strong enough to prevent the enforcement of any measure against the wishes of these powerful corporations and the opponents of the policy of granting aid for new enterprises point to the situation with respect to the existing roads as an example to deter the government from lending its assistance to build up any more of these great corporate bodies. Were it possible to push any plan through Congress that would give the country reasonable security against loss of the great sums staked in the present roads, it would be [illegible] the new roads we want.

[illegible] makes a [illegible] threat. It [illegible] to re-establish the resolutions of '98. Hence with all its best efforts will be devoted to this fresh subject and glorious cause. By men of national views the dogmas of these resolutions have been repudiated and the result of the great war buried them forever. But the "enormity of the principles" of those who exploded them the Standard now proposes "to reopen to this people." Discourses on such a topic will be excellent for those who need a soporific.

Hope springs eternal in the human breast. Also in the Democratic breast. "Johnson came to us voluntarily," says the Standard; "Hayes will be forced to come to us, and the result will be a Democratic administration." And to make matters agreeable, our neighbor tries to win Hayes over by calling him a usurper and a receiver of stolen goods. Safe guess that they'll get him!

When Congress assembles in June the roll-call of the House will contain the names of 149 Democrats and 144 Republicans. This includes those who hold certificates of election and therefore have prima facie right to seats. It is possible the contests, of which there is a large number, may materially change the present relations of the two parties to each other in the House.

We deserve it. The justice of the censure must be acknowledged. We ought to have known, of course, that the name of the contestant for the seat in Congress certificated to Richard Williams is not Lemuel McDowell, but Samuel W. McDowell, M. D., not to know whom argues oneself unknown.

The upshot of the story about ex-Mayor Hall is this: He has run away from home, left his wife, taken up with another woman, gone to a distant country and changed his name. This seems to be all there is of it.

Packard is a resolute man, and is making vigorous preparations to hold the fort, in case he should be left to his own resources. The chances are worth taking that somebody will be hurt before the "unpleasantness" is over.

Last year the patent office paid to the government a profit of $105,445. The number of patents issued was 17,026—about seven times the number issued annually twenty years ago.

The greatest extent of wheat country known is that awaiting settlement and development in the upper Columbia region. The Northern Pacific railroad would bring it out.

ANNUAL SCHOOL MEETING.

Pursuant to a call issued by the clerk of School District No. 1, a large number of the tax payers of this city met last evening at the Central school building.

As set forth in the call, the meeting was held for the purpose of hearing the board of directors and clerk, and also for the purpose of levying a tax for the support of the schools for the ensuing year. Also for the purpose of levying a tax to build a new school building, and for other purposes required, and for the transaction of any other business deemed necessary.

A few minutes before 8 o'clock the meeting was called to order by Capt. J. C. Ainsworth, chairman of the Board of Directors.

Following the call to order came the reading of the call for the meeting as published by the clerk.

Mr. Geo. W. Murray, the school clerk, then read the minutes of the last annual meeting of the tax payers.

No objections were made to the minutes, and they stood approved as read.

Directors' Report.

Capt. J. C. Ainsworth then read the following report for the year ending April 9, 1877:

To the Taxpayers of School District No. 1, Multnomah County: The undersigned herewith present a business statement for the year ending April 9, 1877.

The financial affairs of the district have been conducted in the same manner as presented at your last annual meeting.

The overcrowded condition of our schools forces upon us the necessity of enlarging the present school buildings, or building new ones, and as the local necessities would not be well served by erecting a new edifice on the block owned by the district in the southern portion of the city, it was thought best that additions be built to the Harrison street and North school buildings, and that the assembly room of the Central building be utilized and so altered as to make two new school rooms. To this end the executive committee (composed of the several principals and City Superintendent), was asked by the board to examine the buildings, and present a plan for the additions needed. This committee accomplished the work assigned them in a very satisfactory manner, and received the thanks of the "Board." An estimate of cost has been made by a competent mechanic and will appear in the list of "Estimates for the ensuing year."

We feel assured that the plan of additions to the present buildings as suggested, will be more economical and better serve the wants of the district than to erect a new building on the block referred to.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOL LIBRARY.

We take pleasure in calling your attention to this important and auxiliary branch of education. Though its organization is of but recent date, and its resources very limited, it can boast of the possession at the present date of two hundred and fifteen volumes of well selected books. The recent benefit, so generously given by Madame Urso, netted $194.50. This sum is now in the hands of the treasurer, and will enable us to add some three hundred volumes suitable to juvenile reading.

Article 8, section 2 of the Constitution of this State (referring to the common school fund) closes as follows: "Shall be set apart as a separate and irreducible fund, to be called the common school fund, the interest of which, together with all other revenues derived from the school land mentioned in this section, shall be exclusively applied to the support and maintenance of common schools in each school district, and the purchase of suitable libraries and apparatus therefor."

No doubt but the authority to appropriate a portion of the fund received from the State, for the purpose of aiding the public school library, is in the hands of the directors, but as this matter was referred to the tax payers last year, and you were generous enough to direct an appropriation of $100 for the benefit of this enterprise, we prefer to hear an expression on the subject, and recommend that a like action be had at this time.

AMENDMENT TO THE SCHOOL LAW.

The committee appointed at your last meeting to procure favorable legislation on this subject failed to accomplish the object desired, except to procure an amendment in reference to the collection of school tax. The effort should be renewed at the first opportunity, as important changes are very much needed.

The same system of keeping accounts, collecting tuition from non-resident pupils, and paying cash for all purchases, repairs and service, as presented at the last annual meeting, is still observed, and works without the slightest friction.

We have to report the property of the district in a most excellent condition. The "Rules" in reference to the care of district property have been well observed, and the teachers deserve the thanks of the tax payers for their faithfulness in this particular.

GEO. W. MURRAY,
Clerk of School District No. 1.
Portland, April 7, 1877.

Reports Adopted.

Mr. Jos. Oppenheimer moved that the reports of the board of school directors and the clerk be accepted and placed on file.

The motion was duly seconded, but Capt. Ainsworth stated that such action on the part of the meeting was entirely superfluous. If no objections were made, the reports would stand as approved and be ordered to the files.

No objections being made the reports were thus disposed of.

Recommendations Approved.

Mr. Henry Failing moved, that the recommendations embodied in the directors' report be adopted. Motion unanimously prevailed.

Tax Levied.

Mr. L. M. Parrish moved that in pursuance of the recommendations made by the board, a tax of 2½ mills be levied on all the assessable property included in the district. Motion carried.

Public School Library.

Mr. J. R. Foster moved that the sum of $100 be appropriated for the benefit of the library connected with the public school in obedience to the recommendation made by the directors. The motion unanimously prevailed.

On motion the meeting adjourned.

WILLAMETTE BRIDGE.

The following petition has been in circulation, as many of our readers know, for a considerable time. It now has the signatures of about one thousand of the taxpayers of the county, representing, it is alleged, a great majority of the property in the county subject to taxation:

To the County Court of the State of Oregon for the County of Multnomah: We, the undersigned, residents and taxpayers of said county, respectfully represent to your honorable body that the trade commerce and travel between the cities of Portland and East Portland and the adjacent country is now so great as to demand that said cities be connected by a bridge across the Willamette river.

We therefore pray that a bridge be constructed as aforesaid, at the expense of this county; and that, when completed, a reasonable toll be collected from the travel over the same until the county shall be reimbursed for the expense of building said bridge, after which it shall be free to all travel.

The petition is said to have been signed by the middle class of taxpayers almost universally. It has the signatures of those on the east side of the river, with scarcely an exception. The proposition to build the bridge in the manner indicated in the petition opens several questions for examination and discussion. Just when the petition will be handed in to the county court, or what is likely to be its action with regard to it, we are not advised.

LEBANON ITEMS.

Our Lebanon correspondent sends us the following under date of April 8th:

Farmers are very busy and weather fine. Money is scarce, but prospect of plenty next year after the crops are harvested.

April 2d was a stirring day in our school district. David Smith was chosen director, and Charles Ralston clerk. The tax-payers are highly incensed at the directors for building a school house, costing $2,500 on lots they have not even a bond for a deed. The cost exceeded the sum voted by $1,000. It is rumored they will not pay the $1,000 indebtedness.

Last Sunday evening we witnessed a very interesting entertainment at the quarterly concert given by the members of the Presbyterian Sunday School, Hon. Wm. Elkins, superintendent. First on the programme was music by the choir, "The Ninety and Nine," which was well executed and heartily received. Next was an address by J. W. Cusick, which was original and to the point, and was earnestly listened to by all. Mr. C. will be remembered with pleasure for many a day to come. The remainder of the programme was recitations and music. At the close of the exercises, prizes were distributed to the scholars, and a collection taken to finish paying for the organ of the Sunday School. But the principal feature of all is the superintendent. He cannot receive too much praise for his management of the Sunday School and religious matters in general. About a year ago he organized this Sunday School, and has brought it to a flourishing condition, and through his indefatigable exertions, a fine organ has been procured. He is like Saul of old, head and shoulders above the rest of his townsmen in religious and benevolent affairs.

ANNUAL SCHOOL MEETING.

Pursuant to a call issued by the clerk of School District No. 1, a large number of the tax payers of this city met last evening at the Central school building.

As set forth in the call, the meeting was held for the purpose of hearing the board of directors and clerk, and also for the purpose of levying a tax for the support of the schools for the ensuing year. Also for the purpose of levying a tax to build a new school building, and for other purposes required, and for the transaction of any other business deemed necessary.

A few minutes before 8 o'clock the meeting was called to order by Capt. J. C. Ainsworth, chairman of the Board of Directors.

Following the call to order came the reading of the call for the meeting as published by the clerk.

Mr. Geo. W. Murray, the school clerk, then read the minutes of the last annual meeting of the tax payers.

No objections were made to the minutes, and they stood approved as read.

Directors' Report.

Capt. J. C. Ainsworth then read the following report for the year ending April 9, 1877:

To the Taxpayers of School District No. 1, Multnomah County: The undersigned herewith present a business statement for the year ending April 9, 1877.

The financial affairs of the district have been conducted in the same manner as presented at your last annual meeting.

The overcrowded condition of our schools forces upon us the necessity of enlarging the present school buildings, or building new ones, and as the local necessities would not be well served by erecting a new edifice on the block owned by the district in the southern portion of the city, it was thought best that additions be built to the Harrison street and North school buildings, and that the assembly room of the Central building be utilized and so altered as to make two new school rooms. To this end the executive committee (composed of the several principals and City Superintendent), was asked by the board to examine the buildings, and present a plan for the additions needed. This committee accomplished the work assigned them in a very satisfactory manner, and received the thanks of the "Board." An estimate of cost has been made by a competent mechanic, and will appear in the list of "Estimates for the ensuing year."

We feel assured that the plan of additions to the present buildings as suggested, will be more economical and better serve the wants of the district than to erect a new building on the block referred to.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOL LIBRARY.

We take pleasure in calling your attention to this important and auxiliary branch of education. Though its organization is of but recent date, and its resources very limited, it can boast of the possession at the present date of two hundred and fifteen volumes of well selected books. The recent benefit, so generously given by Madame Urso, netted $194 50. This sum is now in the hands of the treasurer, and will enable us to add some three hundred volumes suitable to juvenile reading.

Article 8, section 2 of the Constitution of this State (referring to the common school fund) closes as follows: "Shall be set apart as a separate and irreducible fund, to be called the common school fund, the interest of which, together with all other revenues derived from the school land mentioned in this section, shall be exclusively applied to the support and maintenance of common schools in each school district, and the purchase of suitable libraries and apparatus therefor."

No doubt but the authority to appropriate a portion of the fund received from the State, for the purpose of aiding the public school library, is in the hands of the directors, but as this matter was referred to the tax payers last year, and you were generous enough to direct an appropriation of $100 for the benefit of this enterprise, we prefer to hear an expression on the subject, and recommend that a like action be had at this time.

AMENDMENT TO THE SCHOOL LAW.

The committee appointed at your last meeting to procure favorable legislation on this subject failed to accomplish the object desired, except to procure an amendment in reference to the collection of school tax. The effort should be renewed at the first opportunity, as important changes are very much needed.

The same system of keeping accounts, collecting tuition from non-resident pupils, and paying cash for all purchases, repairs and service, as presented at the last annual meeting, is still observed, and works without the slightest friction.

We have to report the property of the district in a most excellent condition. The "Rules" in reference to the care of district property have been well observed, and the teachers deserve the thanks of the tax payers for their faithfulness in this particular.

GEO. W. MURRAY,
Clerk of School District No. 1.
Portland, April 7, 1877.

Reports Adopted.

Mr. Jos. Oppenheimer moved that the reports of the board of school directors and the clerk be accepted and placed on file.

The motion was duly seconded, but Capt. Ainsworth stated that such action on the part of the meeting was entirely superfluous. If no objections were made, the reports would stand as approved and be ordered to the files.

No objections being made the reports were thus disposed of.

Recommendations Approved.

Mr. Henry Failing moved that the recommendations embodied in the directors' report be adopted. Motion unanimously prevailed.

Tax Levied.

Mr. L. M. Parrish moved that in pursuance of the recommendations made by the board, a tax of 2½ mills be levied on all the assessable property included in the district. Motion carried.

Public School Library.

Mr. J. R. Foster moved that the sum of $100 be appropriated for the benefit of the library connected with the public school in obedience to the recommendation made by the directors. The motion unanimously prevailed.

On motion the meeting adjourned.

WILLAMETTE BRIDGE.

The following petition has been in circulation, as many of our readers know, for a considerable time. It now has the signatures of about one thousand of the taxpayers of the county, representing, it is alleged, a great majority of the property in the county subject to taxation:

To the County Court of the State of Oregon for the County of Multnomah: We, the undersigned, residents and taxpayers of said county, respectfully represent to your honorable body that the trade commerce and travel between the cities of Portland and East Portland and the adjacent country is now so great as to demand that said cities be connected by a bridge across the Willamette river.

We therefore pray that a bridge be constructed as aforesaid, at the expense of this county; and that, when completed, a reasonable toll be collected from the travel over the same until the county shall be reimbursed for the expense of building said bridge, after which it shall be free to all travel.

The petition is said to have been signed by the middle class of taxpayers almost universally. It has the signatures of those on the east side of the river, with scarcely an exception. The proposition to build the bridge in the manner indicated in the petition opens several questions for examination and discussion. Just when the petition will be handed in to the county court, or what is likely to be its action with regard to it, we are not advised.

LEBANON ITEMS.

Our Lebanon correspondent sends us the following under date of April 8th:

Farmers are very busy and weather fine. Money is scarce, but prospect of plenty next year after the crops are harvested.

April 2d was a stirring day in our school district. David Smith was chosen director, and Charles Ralston clerk. The tax-payers are highly incensed at the directors for building a school house, costing $2,500 on lots they have not even a bond for a deed. The cost exceeded the sum voted by $1,000. It is rumored they will not pay the $1,000 indebtedness.

Last Sunday evening we witnessed a very interesting entertainment at the quarterly concert given by the members of the Presbyterian Sunday School, Hon. Wm. Elkins, superintendent. First on the programme was music by the choir, "The Ninety and Nine," which was well executed and heartily received. Next was an address by J. W. Cusick, which was original and to the point, and was earnestly listened to by all. Mr. C. will be remembered with pleasure for many a day to come. The remainder of the programme was recitations and music. At the close of the exercises, prizes were distributed to the scholars, and a collection taken to finish paying for the organ of the Sunday School. But the principal feature of all is the superintendent. He cannot receive too much praise for his management of the Sunday School and religious matters in general. About a year ago he organized this Sunday School, and has brought it to a flourishing condition, and through his indefatigable exertions, a fine organ has been procured. He is like Saul of old, head and shoulders above the rest of his townsmen in religious and benevolent affairs.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

Financial.

MONDAY EVENING, April 9, 1877.

Gold in New York, 106¾.

Silver, Coin—buying, 94½; selling, 95½.

Legal Tenders in Portland—buying 95, selling 96.

The week now opening promises to be one of little agitation in the financial market, while merchants and tradesmen generally are expecting rather brisker times than are now experienced. The banks of the city are well supplied with funds available as loans or for discounting first class commercial paper. Banks are, however, still upheld and, though reports reach us of considerable amounts of capital seeking favorable opportunities of investment and vainly too. We find but little disposition on the part of those who control the surplus coin of the market to reduce their demands upon applicants for monetary accommodations. Favors for 60 days are usually granted at one per cent. per month, while loans for a term of years can be negotiated at 1@2 per cent. per annum lower. Since the call which is usually experienced in the [illegible] of the year has set in, however, lenders have been able to assume a more independent position and borrowers control the market to a less extent than they did during the winter.

Our telegraphic advices denote a slight advance in the New York gold quotations, and as a consequence currency is less readily accepted at the figures given. We have, however, no change to note, as transactions in the open market to-day were [illegible] of the prices which have prevailed for the past month.

Portland Merchandise.

In this branch of business there is a great deal of competition in the local markets, especially in the line of dry goods, and it is a matter of much difficulty to give even approximate quotations. In boots and shoes prices are steady and generally higher rates prevail than ruled last season. Groceries are also well sustained, and sugars and syrups, instead of being lower, as might have reasonably been expected by reason of the late treaty between the United States and the Hawaiian Kingdom, have uniformly been higher since that treaty [illegible] to what an extent we are yet at the mercy of California operators.

In hardware and agricultural implements the spring trade so far has been quite encouraging, and with the splendid assortment of goods of this [illegible] on hand, and the reported financial situation of the farming community, dealers are anticipating an enlarged volume of transactions during the season. An inspection of the several houses [illegible] devoted to this line of goods in our city gives the assurance of a great deal of confidence in the growth of the demand and actual wants of the [illegible] in this region.

New York Shipping and Markets.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]

NEW YORK, April 9.—There has been a very fair movement of freight to-day for clippers loading for San Francisco, and all of them made considerable headway in loading, and unless there should be another bad spell of weather, two of them will [illegible] than anticipated. Rates of freight are firmer to-day under the improved feeling in the market and also the presumed theory of scarcity of tonnage in the event of a European war, as our ships would be required to carry breadstuffs and munitions of war. However, it is not probable that rates of freight will be advanced, unless some such reason arises for it. There is some inquiry for room in the next, but as there is still an installment of railroad iron to go forward, the agent is [illegible] to demand full rates for such classes of heavy goods as are offered. This, of course, is [illegible], as shippers generally cannot [illegible] to pay these rates. It is learned that the cargo of the steamer Crescent City, which arrived on the 1st inst., is badly damaged by salt water, the steamer having met with very heavy weather and [illegible] several heavy seas. Railroad freights also commenced active to-day, and prospects are that the movement this week will be large.

The [illegible] markets are generally firmer to-day. [illegible] fairly active and flour advanced 10@15 cents, but the advance checked business. Wheat is favored by encouraging cable advices and the warlike drift of political reports from Europe; in good demand for export, asking rates [illegible] cents higher than Saturday's figures, and holders are not eager to place supplies even at [illegible]. Actual dealings in spring grades [illegible] an improvement of 3c @ 4c, while finer wheat was held fully 5c above Saturday's bids, but [illegible]. Hides continue dull, notwithstanding the late decline in prices. California held at 20@ 21½c, gold. Teas very quiet and unchanged for all kinds. Petroleum, [illegible] and turpentine quiet at [illegible] quotations. The dry goods market has [illegible] in tone, and a good many orders were received to-day, including several large ones from the Pacific coast. The print cloth market continues quiet and weak.

English Crops and Markets.

LONDON, April 9.—The Mark Lane Express, in its weekly review of the British corn trade, says the week has been marked by somewhat higher temperature and an abundant rainfall which has further retarded field labor. The continuance of wet weather is beginning to cause uneasiness as besides preventing the finishing the spring sowing, it [illegible] affects winter-sown wheat, about which [illegible] are less than heretofore. Generally, however, the reports of ultimate prospects are hopeful. Dry weather is the great desideratum here and on the continent. Supplies of wheat at the principal country markets have again been light, and, although the holidays have somewhat [illegible], trade has shown a very steady tone. Prices have advanced one shilling. Increased strength was noticed in Mark Lane last week and [illegible] prices have been well sustained. Russian wheat has advanced one shilling. The week's imports into London were very moderate, the bulk of supply being from India and Germany. The [illegible] of receipts of red spring from America, and the steady absorption of last October's heavy [illegible] of California are leading features of the [illegible]. The large quantity of California afloat at the beginning of the year is so reduced as to dispel all apprehensions of a depressing effect upon prices consequent on its arrival. The recent rise in white wheat at Liverpool supports this opinion. The stocks of foreign wheat at London are about [illegible], or about 270,000 less than at a corresponding period of 1876. Since the end of 1876 [illegible] all the leading ports, [illegible] in the same ratio, except at Liverpool, where there is a slight increase, owing to the bulk of California being directed to that port, [illegible], as compared with this time last year, stocks of foreign wheat in the United Kingdom appear to [illegible] quarters less. These figures show [illegible] the excess of consumption over [illegible], and prove the reasonableness of the late [illegible] position of trade. The sales of English wheat last week were 37,086 quarters at [illegible] against 49,676 quarters at 44 shillings [illegible] last year. Imports into the Kingdom during the week ending March 30th were 1,10,667 cwt. of wheat and 99,[illegible] cwt. of flour.

Liverpool Markets.

LIVERPOOL, April 9.—Corn, 26s 6d@22s 9d for new mixed Western; Wheat, 11s@11s 3d for average California white; 11s 8d@11s 7d for club; 10s 9d@ 1s 2d for red winter. Receipts of wheat the past week from Atlantic ports, 2,400 quarters; Pacific, [illegible]; other sources, 1,000 quarters. Receipts of corn 58,000 quarters.

San Francisco Markets.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 9.—Wheat—Strong; shipping, $2 15@2 20; milling, $2 17@2 25.

[illegible]—Little weaker; feed, $1 47½@1 52½; brewing, [illegible]

Oats—$2@2 20.

Corn—$1 70@1 75.

[illegible] for best.

[illegible]

[illegible] discount.

[illegible] market to-day—Average California, 11s@11s 9d; club, 11s 3d@11s 7d.

The iron ship Millwall, hence with a wheat cargo, arrived at Liverpool on the 1st inst.
